

ABSTRACT

An electronic device assembly for dense mounting of electronic devices and method of connecting the electronic devices are disclosed. Conductive portions implemented by metal bumps and sealing portions 5 implemented by adhesive seal resin are connected by thermocompression at the same time between two electronic devices. This may be repeated between three or more electronic device.